

Department of English

E-News No. 6 / 2020-2021

Research Seminars

Professor Kelvin Everest, Emeritus A. C. Bradley Professor of Modern Literature at the University of Liverpool, will talk about his novel Kowtow at 4:30pm on 20 November (Friday).

As Pro-Vice-Chancellor of the University of Liverpool 2001-2016, Professor Everest worked extensively in China to develop Xian Jiaotong Liverpool University in Suzhou and has a long-standing interest in the history and culture of China. Kowtow is a novel about the relationship between Britain and China and is set at two different periods with the narrative alternating between them. Please refer to more details here.

Join Zoom Meeting

Zoom meeting ID: 972 5772 4087 (Password: 583805)

All are welcome!

CU Writing in English 2020

CU Writing in English is a creative writing journal published by the Department annually to present the works written by students taking our creative writing courses. We have an amazing collection of poems and short stories this year. You can pick up a copy from the General Office or you can read it online here.

Research and Publications

Professor Jette Hansen Edwards and her former PhD students, Dr. Roy Ka Long Chan, Dr. Toni Lam, and Dr. Qian Wang, have published "Social Factors and the Teaching of Pronunciation: What the Research Tells Us" in the Special Issue on Teaching Pronunciation of RELC Journal.