COURSE DESCRIPTION

The study of crime and deviance is central to the discipline of sociology. Breaking the law and rules is always controversial. We would not understand the rules of society unless we understand the rule-breakers. This course aims at examining the nature and social correlates of crime, deviance and victimization from a variety of sociological perspectives. In addition to reviewing a number of criminological theories and empirical research findings, this course is specially designed to help students critically analyze some issues of crime and deviance in Hong Kong.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

After completing the course, the students should be able to:

- 1 recognize the significance of scientific, evidence-based study of crime and deviance;
- 2 capture the role of sociological theories of criminology in understanding crime and deviance, compare their underlying theoretical assumptions, recognize their interrelationships, and comprehend how these theories reflect the historical context of the times and cultures in which they were developed;
- 3 identify and critically evaluate certain commonly-held views regarding crime and deviance, and present alternative and even opposing hypotheses on criminal and deviant phenomena;
- 4 recognize the importance of sociological analyses for reflection of the diversity of values and positions in terms of crime and deviance; and
- 5 develop practical skills of applying sociological theories to examine real life instances of crime and deviance.

COURSE STRUCTURE

The course will consist of (1) lecture, (2) case discussion, and (3) tutorial class (five sessions in total).

COURSE ASSESSMENT

- 1 Group Research Project 40%
- 2 Tutorial class (Attendance, Presentation and Participation) 20%
- 3 Final Examination 40%
- 4 Case Discussion: Attendance will be taken for each case discussion session.
