

11 - Micro-Modules for Conflict of Laws

Tools / Services	Pedagogical Uses
I have relied on the expertise of the CUAV Department to create each module .This has been very productive as it enables me to focus on the planning and the script, my strengths, and not to get distracted by the technology involved in producing each module. The use of a teleprompter, interesting background to accompany the presentation and an objective third person who is present to give you instant feedback such as “put more energy into your delivery” all leads to the production of a very professional end result!	The modules will be used during the teaching of Conflict of Laws in the summer term. The plan is that a particular legal concept would be introduced as normal in the relevant lecture, students would then be referred to the relevant micro module to enhance their understanding of the concept and, after an appropriate interval to view it, a class would be held to go through the issues raised in the module, thereby consolidating the students’ understanding of the concept.
