Come Design CUHK's New Green Landmark - The "Column of Sustainability"

Purpose of the Competition

To celebrate our 50th Anniversary, the University plans to mount up a "Column of Sustainability" at the staircases of the Yasumoto International Academic Park (YIA) to explicitly convey the vision and commitment of CUHK as a green university at this prominent location.

CUHK has set goals to reduce energy use (per capita) and greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions (per capita) on campus by 25% and 20% respectively by 2025, and also adopted a number of medium-term sustainability targets. We are seeking creative input from our students and staff in designing a piece of eco-art installation that will enable the University community to learn about these targets and the university's progress towards them, and thereby further encourage cultural and behaviour changes on campus through this engagement and awareness process. With this new landmark, we will also demonstrate by example to the society at large.

Eligibility

The Competition is open to students (undergraduate and postgraduate) and staff of CUHK. There will be a Student Section and a Staff Section.

Prizes and Acknowledgement

Winners will be announced in September 2013.

Prizes are as follows:

- ◇ Champion (one from each section)- $8,000 in book coupons
- ◇ First runner up (one from each section)- $2,000 in book coupons
- ◇ Second runner up (one from each section)- $1,000 in book coupons

One of the winning designs will be adopted for the construction of the 'Column of Sustainability' which will be displayed at a prominent location on campus.

Design Guidelines and Submission Procedure

The winning designs will be selected on the basis of Relevance and Sustainability, Creativity and Originality, and Practicality.

Career Planning and Development

Suspected Fraud Case on Campus

It has come to the attention of the Career Planning and Development Centre that some of our students have been approached by external parties on CUHK campus for personal data collection through survey questionnaire. The data collected were claimed to be for statistics on career development and further studies planning, in fact, students were subsequently approached for direct marketing purpose and being persuaded in involving financial investment.

Students are reminded to stay alert to the importance of protecting personal data. While a citizen's personal data is protected by the Personal Data (Privacy) (Amendment) Ordinance 2012, any violation of the law may be an offence. Please click the website http://www.pcpd.org.hk/english/amendments_2012/amendments_2012.html to learn more about the ordinance and your personal right.
