Brief Course Description:

All societies have some belief in another world, yet beliefs vary widely between societies. This course will examine phenomena often viewed as irrational and superstitious to see how they can be understood in cultural terms. The course will examine the truth-value of many beliefs (are there vampires and ghosts?), but will focus especially on understanding why humans hold “unscientific” beliefs and how they make sense in cultural terms. We will examine the role that religion plays in the human experiences of sickness, death, and uncertainty.

The course will examine traditional anthropological topics such as magic, myths, divination, witchcraft, and ghosts, as well as more recent issues such as vampires, zombies, and other monsters. Examples from contemporary industrial societies, will be used to challenge notions of “modern (or Western) rationality” versus “traditional superstition.” The course will end by discussing how anthropology deals with the concept of religion and how religious identities are shaped in the contemporary world.

For UGE students, it can also serve as an introduction to anthropology.

Learning Outcomes:

Upon the completion of this course, student will:

1. learn to see the cultural nature of reality and of the supernatural;
2. understand how and why many seemingly irrational and bizarre beliefs make sense in their cultural contexts;
3. learn how to use critical thinking while being tolerant of other views;
4. develop a healthy skepticism, while at the same time remaining open to new ideas.
5. Assess and analyze the relationship between religious beliefs and practices and their social, economic, and political contexts.

Required Texts:

All the required readings (as shown in the “reading list” on this syllabus) will be posted on the Blackboard course site.

The course does not have a textbook. But quite a few chapters are selected from this popular reader and its later version:

Moro, Pamela A. and James E. Myers, 2010 Magic Witchcraft and Religion: A Reader in the Anthropology of Religion 8th edition, New York: McGraw-Hill—This book will be placed on reserve.

Evaluation:

1. Participation (10%)

This component is based on your preparation for and contribution to tutorial discussion. Active participation (asking questions, offering comments), not just attendance, is required for a good grade.

2. Out of Class Assignment (5%)

For this assignment you have to find source that can be understood or investigated through the specific concepts, theories or problems discussed in the readings. Sources could be a newspaper article, 'you-tube' clip, blogpost, movie, advertisement, song, etc. The only restriction is that the source you chose has to be in English (online link or PDF). As part of this assignment you will have to write a short accompanying note, in which you explain why the source you chose is related to the class readings of the week, what anthropological questions or problems it raises, or answers it provides. This note should be about 200 words. Post on Blackboard by October 9 by 11:59pm.

3. Take-Home Mid-Term Exam (25%)

The exam will include some multiple choice questions, some short answer questions, and one long answer (or "mini-essay") question. Exam answers are to be double-spaced, typed in 12-point font, and submitted via Veriguide and then submitted to Blackboard with the signed Veriguide certificate. Please follow the Department Style Guide. Due October 30 by 11:59pm.

4. Group Presentation (25%):

Students are going to form groups, conduct research on a chosen topic, and present their findings as a group on November 25 and December 2. The presentations will be graded on timing, the use of slides, the presenting and analysis of materials, and the overall coherence. The exact length of the presentation and the size of the group will be determined later according to the number of students enrolled.

5. Take-Home Final Exam (35%):

This will be conducted in the format of essays in response to the questions that will be posted by December 14. Exam answers are to be double-spaced, typed in 12-point font, and submitted via Veriguide and then submitted to Blackboard with the signed Veriguide certificate. Please follow the Department Style Guide. Due December 19 by 11:59pm.

Grade	Criteria for 1) the course and 2) for coursework
A	1) Outstanding performance on all learning outcomes. 2) The work has creatively synthesized course materials and key ideas in an original way. The argument is logical and cohesive, the discussion is well-organized, and the writing is clear. Concrete evidence corresponds to statements and claims.
A-	1) Generally outstanding performance on all (or almost all) learning outcomes. 2) The work synthesizes course materials and key ideas in an original way, but there are areas for improvement.
B-range	1) Substantial performance on all learning outcomes, OR high performance on some learning outcomes which compensates for less satisfactory performance on others, resulting in overall substantial performance. 2) The work demonstrates a solid grasp of course materials and key ideas. There are areas for improvement with respect to building a cohesive argument, organizing the discussion, communicating clearly, and/or identifying relevant evidence.
C-range	1) Satisfactory performance on the majority of learning outcomes, possibly with a few weaknesses. 2) The work shows some effort, but course materials have not been sufficiently engaged. The argument and the writing is not clear, and/or there is no evidence for statements and claims made.
D-range	1) Barely satisfactory performance on a number of learning outcomes. 2) The work shows little effort to engage course materials. There are major problems with clarity of argument and writing.
F	1) Unsatisfactory performance on a number of learning outcomes, OR failure to meet specified assessment requirements. 2) The work has failed respond to the assignment prompt.

Course Policies: Reading:

Reading is an important part of the learning experience. Students come to this course with different backgrounds, so some of you may find this amount of reading challenging—those from anthropology or humanities/social sciences backgrounds may find it “normal” though. Please finish the readings at least before the tutorial. Take notes while you read, and bring your questions and thoughts to the tutorial to discuss with fellow

Course attendance and participation:

You should attend lectures regularly. Tutorial attendance is mandatory. If you have an unavoidable conflict or become too sick to attend the tutorial, you must contact the TA before the tutorial begins. Active participation in tutorials is necessary and your contribution to discussion will not only be highly appreciated but also become the basis of evaluation.

Academic Integrity:

Students need to know how to cite properly and how to avoid plagiarism— using someone else's ideas or words without attribution. Please read the University's guidelines about academic honesty (www.cuhk.edu.hk/policy/academichonesty/index.htm). It's worth refreshing your memory even if you have read it before. Pay particular attention to Section 1 (What is plagiarism), Section 2 (Proper use of source material), and Appendix 1 (Details guidelines on proper use of source material).

Late Policy:

For the midterm and final exam, extension is only granted to documented medical or family/personal emergencies. You must contact the instructor and the TA as soon as possible if such unfortunate events occur. Each day late without an approved extension will result in a reduction of 1/3 of a letter grade (i.e. A becomes A-; B+ becomes B).
