

Material not available due to copyright restrictions.

Qiu Cheng

Return

I've come home from afar

The monsoon scattered my thoughts
Like the scattering of dandelion fluff
Even with putting on all my woollens
I still cannot withstand
The chill of the silence

The only thing to do is to cough
In order to dispel
The ringing in the ear
For the moment

November 1993

Translated by Louise HO

Material not available due to copyright restrictions.

Material not available due to
copyright restrictions.

CHAN Kam Shing 陳錦成
Stacks.
Silk screen print.