

'Lingnan Images—Paintings by Prof. Ng Yuet-lau and Prof. Philip Chiu'

S.H. Ho College, The Chinese University of Hong Kong

Highlights of the Exhibition

Inspiring Young Minds in a Home-like College

The artwork depicts S.H. Ho College as a cosy home of its students. Faculty members and students live together in such a home-like community, where students are motivated to deepen their learning and have their dreams take flight.

Running Horse

Horses are common themes in Chinese painting. Prof. Ng painted it with simplistic brushstrokes and a clear composition, which vividly reflected the agility of the horse running against the unforgiving wind.

Goose Pond

In November last year, Prof. Ng led a group of S.H. Ho students to the former residence of a renowned Chinese calligrapher Wang Xizhi for sketching. When they arrived at the Goose Pond, Prof. Ng saw two geese swimming in drizzle and immediately sketched the scenario in her sketchbook.

Prof. Philip Chiu
Medical Hero

This is the scenario of Prof. Chiu in the operation room doing surgery. The theme is a familiar portrayal of a physician's life-saving scene. The artwork is rich in personal style and his heart of doctoring.

Xu Weixing, S.H. Ho College
Lingering Thoughts of the Kiosk,
Terrace and Tree Shadow

Xu Weixing is from Taiwan. She has not learnt painting since her graduation from primary school. The sketching tour to Shaoxing has revived her interest in painting and she has been learning from Prof. Ng after the trip. The painting demonstrated is her recent artwork.
