

Dr Jacky Yan Kit, HO graduated with Bachelor of Science from the University of New South Wales, Sydney in 2007. He has further received medical training with the Chinese University of Hong Kong and obtained his MBChB in 2012. He is currently completing higher surgical training in Cardiothoracic Surgery with the Prince of Wales Hospital, Hong Kong.

As a higher surgical trainee, Dr Ho's clinical research interest is in general cardiac surgery and open and endovascular options in aortic surgery.