About BSc in Gerontology 關於老年學理學士課程

In response to the expanding ageing population and the associated aged care workforce shortage in Hong Kong, The Jockey Club School of Public Health and Primary Care offers this UGC-funded two-year full-time Bachelor of Science in Gerontology articulation programme. It aims at equipping students with knowledge and skills to take on aged care service planning; interdisciplinary coordination; planning and implementing care management, empowerment programmes, telecare and transitional care in a wide variety of elderly health and social care settings.
