

Dr. Chow Chi Ying Simon is a higher surgical trainee in the Division of Cardiothoracic Surgery of the Prince of Wales Hospital. He joined the surgical department in 2013 after graduating from the Chinese University of Hong Kong with honors. He trained in general surgery as a basic surgical trainee in the Prince of Wales Hospital and joined the cardiothoracic team in 2015. Dr Chow is currently in his second year of training, and has been involved in various research projects on aortic surgery and aortic diseases.