The Hong Kong Business Sustainability Index (HKBSI)

HKBSI aims to encourage companies in Hong Kong to adopt CSR as a progressive business model for them to achieve business sustainability. In the 7th HKBSI, 58 Hang Seng Index (HSI) constituent companies were invited to complete the assessment.

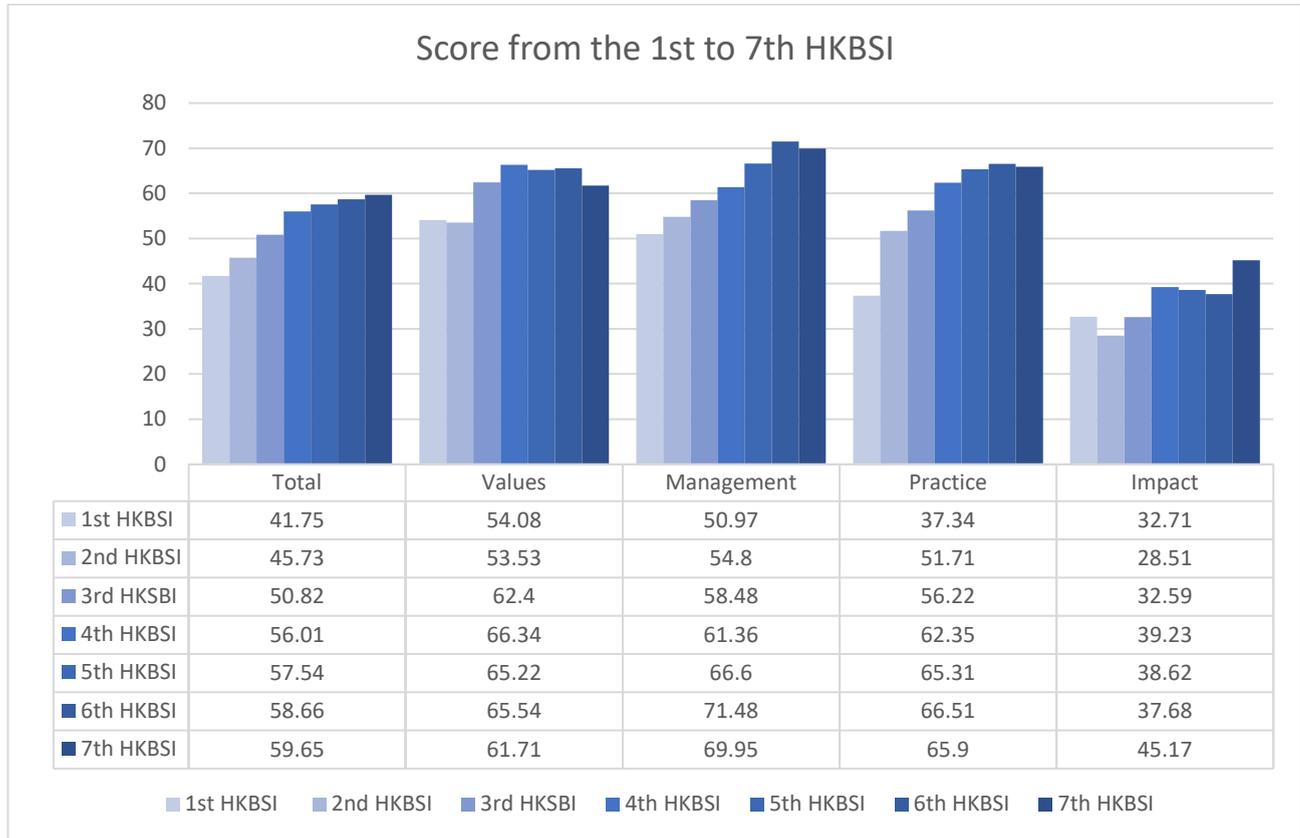

Compared to the results of the 6th HKBSI released last June, the overall average score of the HSI constituent companies was 59.65 points (out of 100 points), up by 1.7%. Among the assessment aspects of VPI, “Impact” registered a significant increase from 37.68 points (6th HKBSI) to 45.17 points, yet, “Values” recorded a slight drop from 65.54 points (6th HKBSI) to 61.71 points. “Process-Management” and “Process-Practice” have remained stable, recording 69.95 points and 65.90 points respectively.

Among the companies assessed, four of them achieved the highest rank “Exemplar” with over 90 points, reflecting that these companies’ business sustainability performance has reached an international standard. In terms of stakeholder analysis, companies showed significant improvement in responding to regulatory requirements such as Government (up by 31.1 %) and Investor (up by 8.3%).
