HALOS

Stockholm syndrome:
The situation when hostages start to like or trust their captors during captivity.

The religion – Halos is a famous cult in Brooklyn in the 80s which preaches the values of boundless love. As children are missing one after another, a girl with a young pure heart becomes its next target. The altar of Halos is where the preaching begins, that sex is the sacred ritual which bonds the young heart with the Priest. However, the pain she suffers unravelled her real self, and she later found herself...

THE IMITATION OF LIFE

Life is strange, isn't it? A million things could happen in one single day, and yet when it passes by we find ourselves stunned, uncertain how to talk about it, unsure how to proceed. For instance, one day you could be living the normal life of a college student --- chatting with friends, promoting your club, scribbling away in your spare time. The next moment, two weird people, looking as if they belong in another era, stumble right in front of you... and change the way you think about your life and your work forever.

THE FALL

Friendships can be pure in the first place.

Yet it at the same time can be like a freshly-nurtured apple which started with a sweet savour. Jealousy is like the vital oxygen that makes it rot and turns everything bad. It cannot be avoided and it's pervasive. Our play is about how the green-eyed monster can deviate and blind a person, pushing them towards inevitable downfalls.
