

GUO Man, Research Fellow

Guo Man studied PhD at the Economics Department at Frankfurt School Finance & Management. His doctoral work focused on the evolutionary/institutional economics and China studies.

Guo Man also earned his LLM at the University of Hamburg and MBA at Bremen University of Applied Science. He worked as research assistant at Tsinghua University and Bremen University of Applied Science. He is currently working on an RGC project: “Enhancing the future of Hong Kong as a leading international financial center.”