

Contents

Foreword / vii

Preface / ix

Acknowledgements / xiii

Abbreviations / xv

Chapter 1 Introduction / 1

Chapter 2 Chinese Public Dispensaries / 41

Chapter 3 The Chinese Elite and the Chinese Public Dispensaries / 35

Chapter 4 Launching of Outpatient Services in Kowloon and the New Territories and the Construction of the Kowloon-Canton Railway and Shing Mun Dam / 61

Chapter 5 Post-World War II Government Outpatient Services: The Great Expansion / 87

Chapter 6 Development of General Outpatient Clinics as Primary Care Providers: Merits and Shortcomings / 111

Chapter 7 Midwifery Service: From Antiquity to Modernity / 129

Chapter 8 Maternal and Child Health and Family Health Service: Healthy Mothers, Healthy Babies / 145

Chapter 9 School Health Service: Healthy Children, Better Learners / 167

Chapter 10 Ambulatory Treatment and Control of Tuberculosis / 185

Chapter 11 Sexually Transmitted Diseases:
Ancient and Emerging Diseases / 201

Chapter 12 Mental Health Service:
From Asylum to Outpatient Care / 219

Chapter 13 Substance Abuse and Drug Addiction / 237

Chapter 14 Industrial and Occupational Health:
A History of Inadequacy / 255

Chapter 15 Community Care Services and Elderly Health Centers:
Ageing in Place / 277

Chapter 16 The Private Sector: Chinese and Western Medicine / 289

Chapter 17 Conclusion / 317

Appendix 1 Lists of Clinics / 321

Appendix 2 Heads of Government Agencies / 331

Glossary / 335

Notes / 337

Bibliography / 375

Index / 387