

THE COMPLICATED CHINESE TEST

By Amelia 6B 21

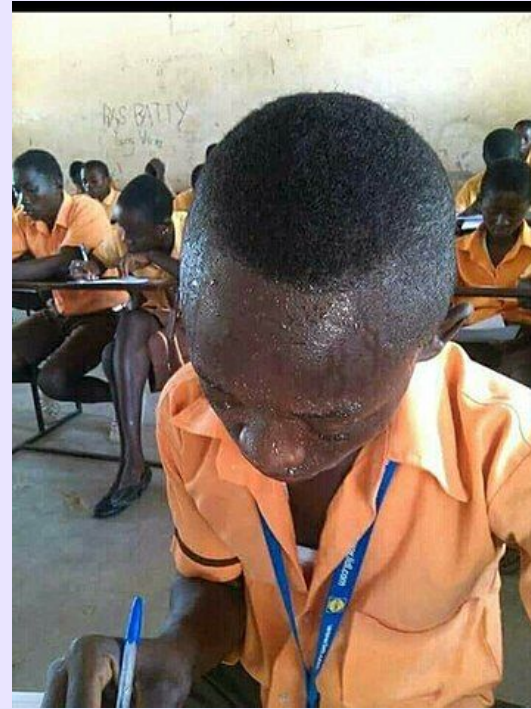

Last Friday was exam day. Tom and his cheerful classmates were in the classroom going to do the complicated Chinese test.

'I didn't study for today's Chinese test!' cried Tom. His eyes were filled with tears and his whole body was shivering. He was too scared. He started to think that he will fail on his Chinese test and will get scolded by his mother.

'Everybody! It is time to do your test!' yelled the teacher.

Tom was really scared and had lots of sweat on his head.

While doing the test, Tom went to a question which was really difficult to him. He wanted to cheat but Ben his brother told him not to cheat because cheating is bad, 'Remember what mom said, what happens in the dark always comes to light.' whispered Ben

What happens in the dark always comes to light

Tom didn't want to listen but his mom is always right so he didn't cheat and tried his best.

As long as you're trying your best, that's all that matters

The test was finished. Tom's heart was about to fly away because of the hard Chinese test.

When it is time to get the test papers, Tom was really nervous. He felt butterflies in his stomach. But little does he know that he got full marks on his Chinese test.

When he saw his test he was shocked. His eyes were popped out and his mouth dropped as how shocked he was. Now he learnt that what happens in the dark always comes to light. Which means lying is bad.
