

CUHK-MAICS Diversity & Inclusion Scholarship

The CUHK-MAICS Diversity & Inclusion Scholarship aims to provide an opportunity for members of underrepresented groups in postgraduate programs in Hong Kong universities to pursue a Taught MA degree in Intercultural Studies.

We are looking for applicants who are leaders or trailblazers in different fields of cultural work and whose race, ethnicity, gender, religion, and nationality are not fully represented in our student body. We also welcome the applications of aspiring scholars who have plans to undertake doctoral research with the potential to make a significant contribution to Cultural Studies and its related fields.

Eligibility for scheme

For our inaugural scheme, priority will be given to applicants who are citizens of ASEAN (Brunei, Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Thailand, Vietnam), Brazil, India, and South Africa.

Amount of scholarship

Each student will receive a full tuition scholarship amounting to HK$135,000.

Review process

Applicants for the scholarship should submit their application materials by 28 February 2024.

Applications will be reviewed and selected based on the applicant's academic qualifications, work portfolio, financial need, and potential for contribution.

Shortlisted applicants will be invited for a panel interview.

Announcement of selection results

The selection results will be announced by April 2024.

The fellowship will be disbursed to the selected fellows throughout the student's study period commencing the start of the first semester of study.

The programme may choose not to award the scholarship if no suitable candidates are found.

Criteria for selection

1. Portfolio of work (e.g., samples of critical, scholarly, or creative work; newspaper articles or press releases about accomplishments)
2. Application form
