THEO5144 Women in World Missions 婦女與世界差傳

Term 2, 2023–24	Instructor: Prof. WONG Wai Yin Christina
Mondays 7–9:30pm	Email: wycwong@cuhk.edu.hk
Classroom: ELB 308	Office Hours: Thursdays, 5:00-6:00pm

Course Overview

There are some provoking questions as follows:

- How do we articulate any mission theories of women by American and European missions? How do they shape the ministry for women in World Christianity from the nineteenth to early twentieth centuries?
- Were local women oppressed by local patriarchy? Were they really liberated by Western Christianity? Paradoxically, as cultural preservers, how did they make selective appropriations of Western Christianity.
- Can we depict women missionaries as imperial agents? What kind of relationship did local women and women missionaries establish?

In the context of Christianity as a worldwide movement, the majority of church members are women. Since at least the early 1800s, women have led in cross-cultural ministries of service, witness, evangelism, and philanthropic works. This course will explore contexts, nature, theories, and issues relating to women in world missions with a particular focus on the 19th century to the present. In addition to examining important global issues for women in missions, it will cover women encounter with local culture through which to explore any selective appropriation of World Christianity from an intercultural perspective.

Learning Outcomes

After completing this course with a final grade of B or above, students will be able to:

- Identify and analyze some critical concepts, methods, and debates in women and world missions;
- Discover historical agencies of both two categories of women, i.e., non-Western women and women missionaries;
- Become aware of any gender factors shaping our understandings of mission theologies and practices.

Pedagogical Commitments

1. Engaging other cultural and religious differences will move us to zones of discomfort and anxiety. Let us be humble, open-minded, and respectful to the Other (our stranger).
2. Learning is dialogical and communal. We hope to build up a learning circle. We treasure this communal learning process and are willing to build up a trustful and respectful environment.
3. Your experience is a primary source of knowledge and wisdom. In all written works and class discussions you are encouraged to integrate the course's theoretical resources with your own experience.

Procedure

This course will involve lectures by the instructor, extensive class discussions in a variety of formats, tutorial, student presentations, primary text analyses and power point presentation, striving to engage a diversity of women in world missions through a multiplicity of resources.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Attention is drawn to University policy and regulations on honesty in academic work, and to the disciplinary guidelines and procedures applicable to breaches of such policy and regulations. Details may be found at <http://www.cuhk.edu.hk/policy/academichonesty/>.

With each assignment, students will be required to submit a signed declaration that they are aware of these policies, regulations, guidelines and procedures. In the case of group projects, all students of the same group should be asked to sign the declaration, each of whom is responsible should there be any plagiarized contents in the group project, irrespective of whether he/she has signed the declaration and whether he/she has contributed directly or indirectly to the plagiarized contents.

For assignments in the form of a computer-generated document that is principally text-based and submitted via VeriGuide, the statement, in the form of a receipt, will be issued by the system upon students’ uploading of the soft copy of the assignment. Assignments without the properly signed declaration will not be graded by teachers. Only the final version of the assignment should be submitted via VeriGuide.

The submission of a piece of work, or a part of a piece of work, for more than one purpose (e.g. to satisfy the requirements in two different courses) without declaration to this effect shall be regarded as having committed undeclared multiple submission. It is common and acceptable to reuse a turn of phrase or a sentence or two from one’s own work; but wholesale reuse is problematic. In any case, agreement from the course teacher(s) concerned should be obtained prior to the submission of the piece of work.
