

Hertford College

Hertford is one of the oldest of the 38 colleges within the University of Oxford. It was founded in 1282. Hertford is known for its warm friendly atmosphere and has been welcoming students from overseas for many years.

Long Street - Oxford

W. H. R.

College Street

W. H. R.

Balliol College - Oxford

W. H. R.

View from College Street

W. H. R.

Typical Weekly Academic Timetable (20 hours per week)

Day	AM 9am - 12.30pm	PM 2 - 4pm
Sunday	Arrival in Oxford
Monday	Classes	Classes
Tuesday	Classes	Classes
Wednesday	Classes	Classes
Thursday	Classes	Classes
Friday	Study Visit	Study Visit
Saturday	Free Time	Free Time
Sunday	Free Time	Free Time

Teaching

Students learn in small groups

Final Presentations

You are invited to a “Welcome Tea”; a traditional English Tea in our historic Hall

After Welcome Tea, we take a picture under our Bridge of Sighs

Study Visits

The study visits are designed to introduce you to some of England's most famous and historic places. They are an important part of the programme. There will be an explanatory lecture on the day before the visit.

LONDON

BLENHEIM PALACE

STONEHENGE

"THIS ENGLAND OF OURS"
STRATFORD-UPON-AVON

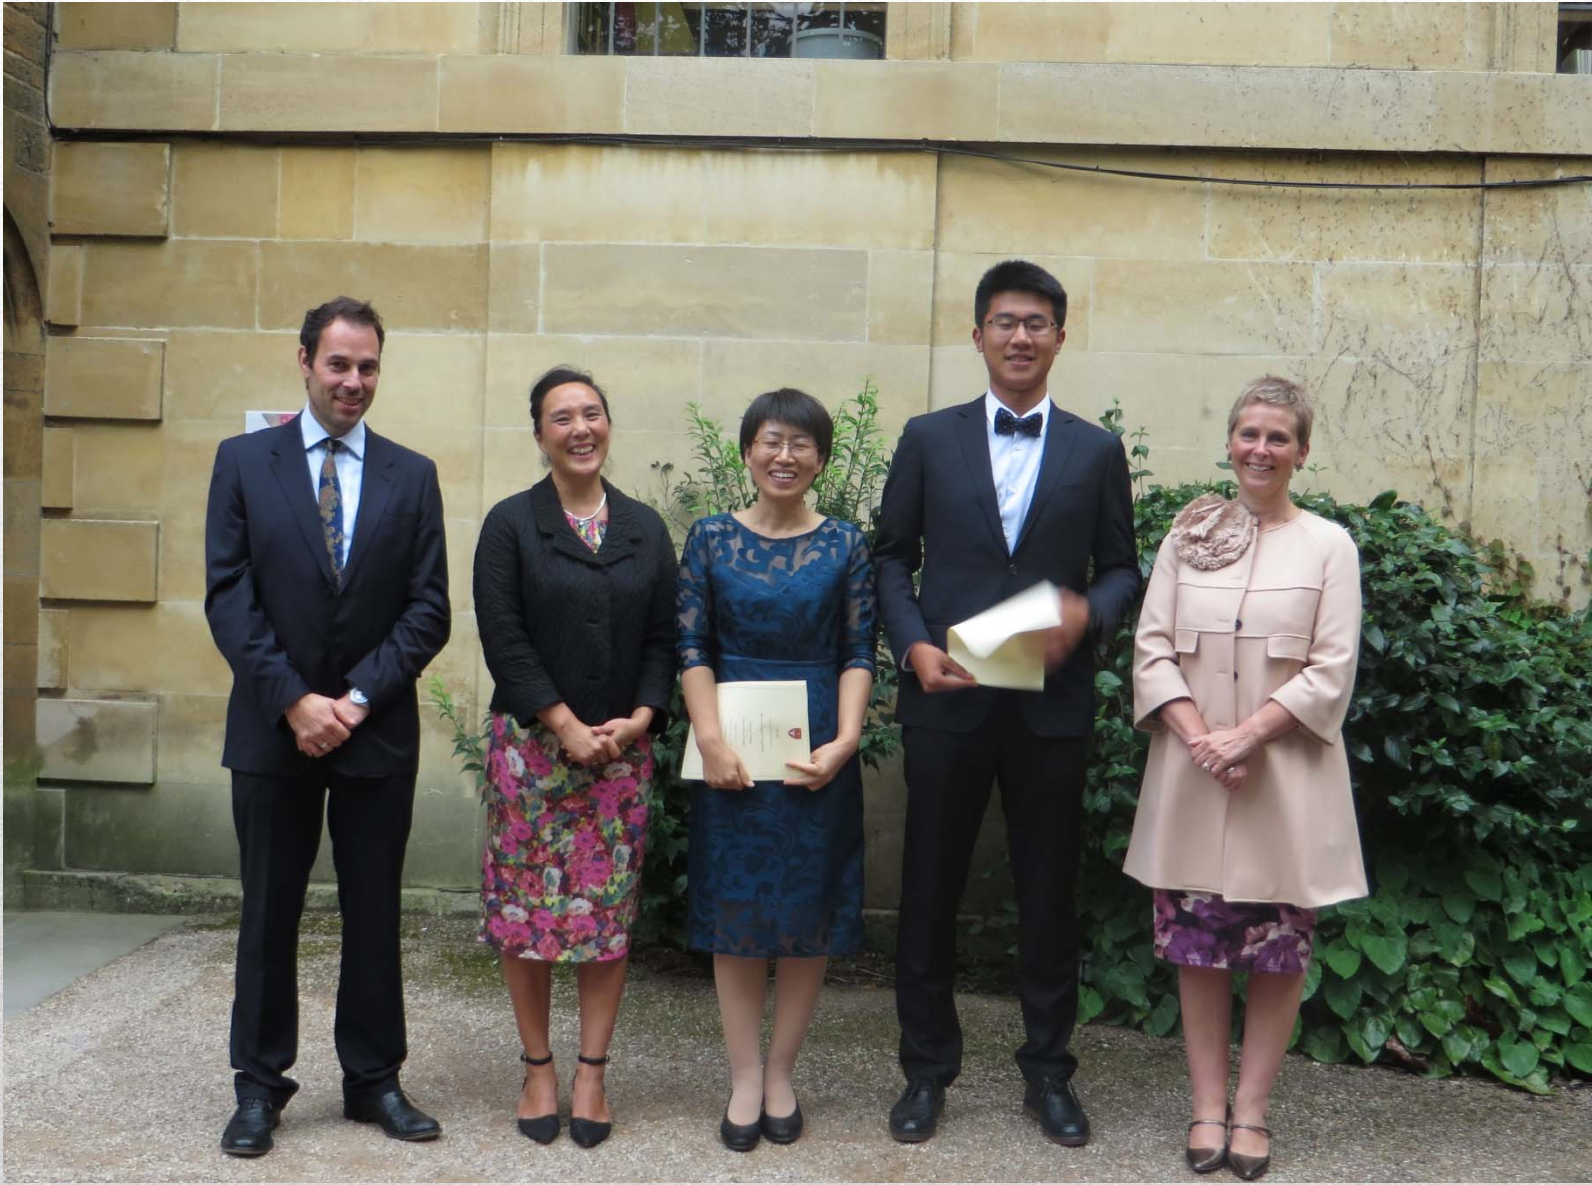

Gala Dinner

We have a final dinner to celebrate your success in learning English. You receive your certificate.

Residential Advisers

The Residential Advisers are Oxford students who live with you during the programme. You can speak to them and practise your English. RAs organise activities; visits to colleges, museums, art galleries, theatres, sport.

Activities with your RAs...

Hertford
College

Logistics (airport transfers, food and accommodation)

Oxford is ideally located for travel around Britain

Accommodation may be in the older, more traditional rooms in the main site...

Or in more modern accommodation, by the River Thames

Students are able to study in their rooms

All student rooms are well-equipped, have washing facilities and internet access.

Accommodation is in secure, comfortable student dormitories.

Rooms are cleaned every day by scouts.
Fresh towels and bed linen are provided each week.

All accommodation buildings have laundry facilities.

You will try a variety of delicious food prepared by our chefs

Welcome to Oxford!

